PREVIEWS (70) December 1, 2009
PUBLISHED QUARTERLY BY AMBLER THEATER, INC.
108 EAST BUTLER AVENUE, AMBLER, PA 19002-4426
ISSUE NO. 70
Main Attractions:

We try to play each of these films for full multi-week runs. Sometimes, however, because of scheduling conflicts, we are unable to play a film in a timely or complete manner. As a result, we’ve added a new series called Limited Engagements for which we’ll book smaller or overlooked films for 2 or 3 mid-week screenings, only. Make sure that you sign-up for our weekly email blast, so that you don’t miss them. And check our website often for the latest scheduling and showtimes info.

The Imaginarium of Doctor Parnassus
Great Britain – 2 hr 2 min – Terry Gilliam
A magical fantasy from Terry Gilliam in the mode of his Baron Munchausen. It features Heath Ledger’s last performance, a role that was only half completed. So, Gilliam made the decision to finish the film with Johnny Depp, Jude Law and Colin Farrell standing in for Ledger in the fantasy “Imaginarium” sequences. This remarkably coherent film is both amusing and, at times, brilliant.

The Young Victoria
Great Britain – 1 hr 40 min – Jean-Marc Vallee
Emily Blunt stars as Queen Victoria in this film that chronicles the monarch’s rise to the crown and her romance with Prince Albert. It’s a lovely production with gorgeous locations, fabulous costumes and truly excellent performances. With Rupert Friend, Jim Broadbent, Paul Bettany, and Miranda Richardson.

Broken Embraces
Spain – 2 hr 8 min – Pedro Almodovar w/subtitles
Almodovar’s latest is his fourth picture with Penelope Cruz. About a writer who was blinded in an auto accident (for starters), this gorgeous film is half noir and half melodrama. Its intricate plot is enhanced by gripping performances, stunning cinematography and Almodovar’s usual stylistic flair.

Bad Lieutenant
USA – 2 hr 1 min – Werner Herzog
Subtitled “Port of Call New Orleans,” this remake is the twisted tale of a good cop gone bad. Nicolas Cage throws himself into an “enthusiastic” performance and master director Herzog puts his unpredictable spin on the action. Is it an artistically-sophisticated social commentary or a tawdry B film? Or both? In any event, it’s pure unmitigated cinema and an awesome guilty pleasure.

Up in the Air
USA – 1 hr 48 min – Jason Reitman
The director of Juno and Thank You For Smoking returns with another excellent film, this one about a corporate downsizing expert, played by George Clooney with supreme assurance. The film is funny and moving and it captures the zeitgeist of our economic times. Clooney’s performance is perfect and his chemistry with Vera Farmiga is a joy to behold.
Main Attractions

The Private Lives of Pippa Lee
USA – 1 hr 33 min – Rebecca Miller
An exceptionally well-made family drama starring Robin Wright Penn as a woman who marries an older man (Alan Arkin). Funny and touching and unexpected in its developments. Not that anything significant happens, but it charts a woman’s life with charm and lightness, style and feeling. And that’s pretty special.

The Last Station
Great Britain – Michael Hoffman
THE LAST STATION is a drama about the life and marriage of Russian literary giant Leo Tolstoy, featuring Christopher Plummer and Helen Mirren. The elderly Tolstoy has thrown his domestic world into chaos by suggesting that he will leave his property and literary legacy to “the Russian people.” Paul Giamatti plays a long-term family advisor and James McAvoy is a young man who steps into the unexpected turmoil.

Me and Orson Welles
USA – 1 hr 47 min – Richard Linklater
Richard Linklater’s latest is a drama about a 1937 production of Julius Caesar by the great Orson Welles. The film focuses on the life of a young man cast in the play, but the indisputable highlight is the extraordinary portrayal of the American boy wonder by British actor Christian McKay. At times it’s possible to forget that you’re watching an actor and really believe you’re beholding Welles at work. A light and charming presentation.

Fantastic Mr. Fox
USA/Great Britain – Wes Anderson
This adaptation of the Roald Dahl classic, using stop-motion animation, is a silly, funny “kids film” for adults. From tweehipster Wes Anderson, it’s the story of a resourceful fox who battles three evil farmers. Featuring a treasure trove of quirky details, retro-gizmos and sweet-hearted charm, as well as the voice work of Bill Murray, George Clooney, Cate Blanchett and Jason Schwartzman.

Precious
USA – 1 hr 49 min – Lee Daniels
Raw, vibrant and resoundingly hopeful, PRECIOUS is the story of a young woman determined to overcome immense obstacles. Claireece Jones is a 16-year-old African-American girl, living in Harlem in 1987, pregnant a second time by incest. Beset, as well, by an abusive mother and chaos in school, she enters an alternative school, where she begins her journey away from darkness and toward love and self-determination. A powerful and unflinching film.

Pirate Radio
Great Britain – Richard Curtis
This congenial and high-spirited film is about a crew of radio DJ’s in the sixties. At a time when the BBC limited the public air waves, these motley rebels broadcast the best of rock and roll from a boat off the English coast. Featuring an unprecedented soundtrack that includes the Beatles, the Stones, the Beach Boys, the Who, Jimi Hendrix, Smokey Robinson, Cat Stevens and many more, PIRATE RADIO is a musical marvel. With Philip Seymour Hoffman, Bill Nighy, Rhys Ifans.

Dear Friends of the Ambler Theater,

As we come to the end of the new Ambler Theater’s 6th year, we thank you, our friends and members, for all of your support.

Here are the highlights of what we’ve accomplished in 2009:

- New concession stand with more items and fountain drinks
- More films with the addition of High Definition Digital Projection
- More free events for members
- A restored facade and entry doors will be completed by the end of the year

Challenging financial times have made accomplishing the above more difficult. We have experienced a drop in grant funding and a re-alignment from business sponsors.

We need your support. Your financial support is needed now more than ever. And, your support will be put to good use in our streamlined, efficient operation.

PLEASE CONSIDER AN END-OF-YEAR GIFT. Your special gift will help support our Special Programming. It will also help defray such costs as our Quarterly Previews Magazine, our newly re-designed web-site and our upgraded ticketing and concession sales stations.

To make a gift today, use the form below or visit our website at AmblerTheater.org (an easy and convenient way to make a secure gift).

Thank you for all of your support, and see you at the Movies.
